No two career paths are alike

"Learning about the experience of professionals working in my field of interest motivates me to continue following what I want to do. Furthermore, experiencing the office environment and the people that work at PwC helped me to see the accounting industry with a more focused view and define what career path in the accounting field I would like to follow."

– 2012 Explore Attendee

We are seeking high performing college freshman or sophomores who are considering a business or accounting-related major or those that are looking for further information on careers in accounting and other business related fields.

Explore is a unique and interactive one-day program comprised of experiential learning sessions aimed at developing teamwork, strategic thinking, creativity, problem-solving, and leadership skills, in addition to providing a networking forum with other students and PwC partners, principals and staff. The program is an outstanding opportunity for talented freshman and sophomores to learn more about the accounting profession and discover their own career goals and aspirations, all while having fun!
